

With you in mind

Taste is personal, so it makes sense to choose a kitchen designer who specialises in responsive, individualistic projects

Are you looking for a chef's kitchen, a sleek entertainer's hub, or a practical family gathering point where everyone has elbow room to spare? Or all three?

Award-winning kitchen, bathroom and interior designer Natalie Du Bois has a reputation for creating one-off spaces that respond to a client's wishes.

You will never find the same design repeated, which means a homeowner's project is individual to them, says Du Bois.

"I try to tune into the exact needs of all our clients to create an environment they feel good in. We have the ability to work with any aesthetic style from ultra-ornate country to sleek and contemporary."

The diverse high-quality kitchens seen on these pages are a result of the designer's professional understanding of materials, colours and performance – essentially, what works well and what doesn't in terms of functionality and aesthetics.

"And because we contract only the very best artisans, meticulous attention to detail is a hallmark of all our work."

Du Bois Design is also an approachable company – making creating your kitchen or bathroom a fun, exciting experience.
